Annual Report

Fiscal Year 2014

A MESSAGE FROM ORGA

To all Friends of Research @ RIC:

Rhode Island College's Office of Research and Grants Administration (ORGA) is proud to offer the campus community its fourth annual report. This year, FY14, saw $8.7 million generated in grant and contract revenue. In the face of public funding reductions and increased competition for grant dollars, Rhode Island College continues to generate substantial funds for research and programs that support teaching and learning. This success requires hard work and perseverance by college faculty and staff. ORGA's annual report acknowledges their commitment.

Lisa Smolski, Director of Research and College Initiatives, Office of Research and Grants Administration; Dr. Paul LaCava, Associate Professor, Special Education; and Dr. Eric Hall, Associate Professor, Biology share a laugh at the 6th annual PI Recognition Reception at Alex and Ani Hall

Fiscal Year 2014 saw a surge in activity across the disciplines as momentum to strengthen participation in student and faculty research has continued to grow. A group of faculty came together to form Building RIC (a Research Inclusive Community), as a means of increasing campus-wide participation in, visibility of, and collaboration around, student-faculty research. The committee's broad working description of research, as evidenced by the inclusion of "creative activity," signals that research at RIC is not singular or discipline-specific, but encompasses the entire campus community. The college also became an institutional member of the Council on Undergraduate Research (CUR) in 2014, as a way to better connect with, and learn from, our peers across the country. Funding from the college and Rhode Island National Science Foundation –Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research (RI-NSF-EPSCoR) supported the attendance of six RIC faculty and staff at CUR's annual meeting in Washington, DC. That shared activity has brought a new level of energy to this work.

President Nancy Carriuolo and Vice President for Academic Affairs, Ron Pitt, used the opportunity provided by this year's annual PI Recognition reception to restate their own commitment to strengthening the college's culture of research. ORGA shares that commitment and is proud to support the many individuals and partnerships working to encourage and promote student-faculty research at RIC.
