HONORS PROJECT BINDERY SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

These instructions are addressed to student authors of College Honors Program projects being submitted to the Library for binding. (It may prove more efficient for department honors liaisons to deliver the copies for binding, but that is up to the department.)

1. Submit the original honors project and one other copy for the Library's collections. Both of these copies will be sent to the bindery and made into hardbound books. The original will be placed in Special Collections, and the other copy will be placed in the Library's circulating collection. The Library pays for the binding of these two documents.
2. Submit an additional copy of the honors project, if your academic department or program wishes to have its own bound copy. This copy will be sent to the bindery along with those slated for the Library's collections. The academic department or program pays for having this additional copy bound. The College Honors Program does not require a bound copy and does not pay for binding.
3. Submit additional copies (limit is five), if you wish to have copies of your honors project bound for your own use. You are responsible for paying the binding costs of these personal copies, unless your academic department or program has made other arrangements for handling the cost. Check with your honors adviser. Payment is required at the time of submission of copies to the Library. The preferred method of payment is by check, made out to Rhode Island College. The binding fee will be kept as low as possible.
4. Each copy of the project should include a completed signature page and a title page formatted according to College Honors Program requirements.
5. All copies should be brought to the Cataloging Department of the Library (Level 2) between 9 A.M. and 4 P.M., Monday-Friday. Call Ray Hartenstine (456-1905) or Carol Hryciw-Wing (456-9615) before bringing in copies, especially if you wish to know the cost of binding your personal copies.
