SECTION I: STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT AND CONDUCT REVIEW PROCESS

As an academic community, Rhode Island College (the “College”) is dedicated to providing safe and vibrant learning and working environments for all of its members. The purpose of the Student Code of Conduct and Conduct Review Process is to promote student growth and development, and to preserve the atmosphere of learning necessary to the well-being of all students.

All members of the campus community share a responsibility for maintaining and enhancing an environment guided by mutual respect, high standards of integrity, and reason. To that end, the College has established the Code of Conduct, which outlines standards of behavior that promote safety and welfare on behalf of the College community.

The College expects all students and student organizations to abide by all policies implemented by the College, including the Code of Conduct and related Conduct Review Process, as well as all state, local, and federal laws. In a case that a student is charged with, pleads guilty or nolo contendere to, or is convicted of a crime at any point during their enrollment at the College, the student must immediately notify the the Dean of Student Office. If necessary, to protect the health and safety of the campus community or its members, the College may place a student who has been charged with a crime on an interim suspension until the student’s charges have been dismissed or until there is a judgment of conviction or acquittal. If a student is convicted of a crime while enrolled at the College, the College may expel the student.

Jurisdiction

The Code of Conduct and Conduct Review Process shall apply to all students and all student organizations. Any student who is found responsible for violating the Code of Conduct is subject to disciplinary sanctions and could be subject to criminal charges. It is the expectation of the College that all students shall be responsible for their conduct from the time of admission through graduation, including while participating in any student organization or college activities. (Separate and apart from the student admissions review process, if an individual who has been accepted to the College violates the Code of Conduct prior to their enrollment in academic courses, the College reserves, in its sole discretion, the right to revoke that individual’s acceptance to attend the College). The Code of Conduct shall apply to prohibited conduct by a student whether the conduct occurs on or off campus.

If a student withdraws from the College while a conduct matter is pending, the College will place a hold notification in the student’s education records and in the relevant College database system. The student will not be permitted to re-enroll in the College until after the conduct matter has been adjudicated and/or resolved.

Relevant Definitions

The terms referenced herein should be interpreted to have the following meanings:

- Administrative Hearing: a hearing that consists of a meeting or meetings with a single Decision Maker to adjudicate a disciplinary charge.

Persons who are not currently enrolled for a particular term, or are between terms, but who have a continuing relationship with the College (e.g., students on a leave of absence with an intent to return) are considered students.
- Preponderance of the Evidence: An evidentiary standard that is met if the greater weight of the evidence demonstrates that it is ‘more likely than not’ that a violation of the Code of Conduct has occurred.
- Complainant: Any person who is alleged to have been subject to another student’s misconduct. In the absence of a student complainant, the College may proceed as the complainant.

- Designee: Refers to a staff or faculty member who has the responsibility for implementing the Student Conduct process or administering a Hearing Board, in part or in whole.

The president of the student organization will serve as the student organization’s representative during the Conduct Review Process. If the president is unable to serve, any member of the executive board of the student organization may serve. If the student organization does not have an executive board, the student organization must appoint one student to represent the student organization during the Conduct Review Process. Failure to do so will result in the College proceeding with the Conduct Review Process without a representative of the student organization present.

PROHIBITED CONDUCT/ VIOLATIONS OF THE CODE OF CONDUCT

As members of the Rhode Island College community, students and student organizations have a responsibility to uphold the Code of Conduct as well as adhere to federal, state, and local laws. The following are groups of behaviors that constitute misconduct. The following list represents the types of acts that constitute violations of the Code of Conduct. Interim measures are temporary measures intended to impose restrictions on the student's access to housing and/or campus as is necessary to ensure the physical safety of the College community and its members in light of the alleged conduct. Interim measures may include but are not limited to removal from campus; removal from campus housing or relocation to a different residential hall; restricting access to certain areas of campus; changes to academic schedules; prohibition against participation in certain campus activities; suspending activities of student organizations and/or any other measures deemed necessary.

Interim measures become effective immediately upon the College notifying the student of the interim measures and the reasons why the measures are being implemented. The Vice President for Student Success or designee will review the appeal and respond to the student within two (2) business days of receipt of the appeal with a decision as to whether the interim measures shall remain in place pending the conclusion of the Conduct Review Process.

If, at the conclusion of the Conduct Review Process, the Respondent is found not responsible for the alleged violation(s) of the Code, any interim measures in effect will be immediately withdrawn and the College will make reasonable efforts to restore the Respondent to the position the Respondent was in prior to the implementation of the interim measures.

CONDUCT REVIEW PROCESS

Preliminary Review

Upon receipt of a report alleging that a student or student organization has engaged in conduct in violation of the Code, the Dean of Students or designee will determine whether the alleged conduct, if proven true, would constitute a violation of the Code. If it is determined that the alleged conduct, even if proven true, would not constitute a violation of the Code, no further action will be taken. If it is determined that the alleged conduct, if proven true, would constitute a violation of the Code, the Dean of Students or designee will determine whether the violation is serious enough to result in a sanction of suspension or dismissal from the College. If the Dean of Students or designee determines that the alleged conduct, if proven true, is serious enough to result in suspension or dismissal from the College, the Dean of Students or designee will refer the case to a Hearing for adjudication. All other alleged conduct will be adjudicated under the College's Administrative Process.

Written Notice and Scheduling

If it is determined that the alleged conduct, if proven true, would constitute a violation of the Code, the Dean of Students or designee, within five business days of receiving a report, will provide the Respondent(s) with written notice, which will include: a description of the alleged conduct or complaint, the specific sections of the Code alleged to have been violated; contact information for the individuals facilitating the Conduct Review Process; any interim measures that have been deemed necessary, and a statement that the Respondent is presumed not responsible for violating the Code until the conclusion of the Administrative Process or Hearing and only if the Respondent is found responsible at that time.

The Respondent and any witnesses will thereafter be contacted via their College email to schedule an Administrative Process meeting or Hearing as applicable.

Students' Procedural Rights

The following guidelines are designed to help ensure a fair and accurate Conduct Review Process.

- Adequate Time to Prepare: The respondent shall have a minimum of five business days from the time the hearing notice was received to prepare for all phases of the Conduct Review Process outlined herein.. In the discretion of the college this time may be extended for good cause, however, the Conduct Review Process cannot be unduly delayed.
- Access to Evidence: Respondents shall, as permitted by law, be given access to review evidence obtained by the College.
- Burden of Proof: The College has the burden of proof to establish each provision of the Code that the Respondent is alleged to have violated. The College must use the Preponderance of the Evidence standard when making decisions concerning responsibility. Preponderance of the evidence is a standard of proof that based on the information available, it is more likely than not that a violation occurred, greater than 50% likelihood that the violation is true.
- Presumption of Non-responsibility: Respondents will be presumed to be not responsible until the conclusion of the Conduct Review Process and only if the Respondent is found responsible at that time.
- Past Conduct: Respondents have the right to participate in the Conduct Review Process without having their past conduct records revealed or used to influence a decision concerning responsibility for a new alleged violation of the Code. However, the records of past violations of the Code may, be considered in determining sanction(s) if it is determined that the Respondent is responsible for the new alleged violation of the Code.
- Rescheduling Meetings or Hearings: The College has the discretion to reschedule a meeting or Hearing if necessary. A meeting or Hearing may be postponed if the Respondent can satisfactorily demonstrate that more time is necessary to secure relevant evidence. Notwithstanding, the Respondent cannot unduly delay the Conduct Review Process.
- Communications: Respondents will not be restricted from discussing the Conduct Review Process with individuals who can assist the Respondent in gathering relevant evidence and/or providing the Respondent with advice or support related to the Conduct Review Process.

Acknowledgment of Responsibility

At any point prior to the Administrative Process or Hearing, Respondents may acknowledge responsibility for violations of the Code and may subsequently waive their rights to the Administrative Process or Hearing. In the case that the Respondent acknowledges responsibility, the sanction(s) will be imposed according to the nature and severity of the prohibited conduct and any past violations of the Code by the Respondent. No appeal will be permitted after an acknowledgment of responsibility.

Administrative Process

The Dean of Students or designee will, as applicable, appoint a Decision-Maker(s) to conduct the Administrative Process. The Decision-Maker(s) may be any faculty or staff member.

The Decision-Maker(s) will determine whether the Respondent is responsible for violating the Code by using the preponderance of evidence standard, and, if applicable, impose appropriate sanction(s). Prior to meeting with the Respondent, the Decision-Maker(s) will engage in an information-gathering process. After the information-gathering process is complete, the Decision-Maker(s) will schedule a meeting with the Respondent. During this meeting, the Respondent will be given the opportunity to respond to the allegation(s), rebut any incriminating evidence, and ask related questions.

Based on the information obtained and/or discussed during the meeting and during the information-gathering process, the Decision-Maker(s) will render a decision concerning responsibility and, if applicable, impose a sanction(s). The Decision-Maker(s) will provide the Respondent with written notice of the decision and, if applicable, the sanction(s) imposed. The written notice will include information regarding how to file an appeal. If a Respondent fails to participate in the Administrative Process without good cause, a decision concerning responsibility and sanction(s), if applicable, will be made in the Respondent's absence.

Hearing

The Hearing will be conducted by a Board of three individual Decision-Maker(s) and facilitated by the Dean of Students' Office. The individual facilitator appointed by the Dean of Students may also serve as one of the Decision Makers on the hearing board and serve as the primary point of contact for the student involved, providing guidance before, during, and after the hearing; during the hearing itself, the Facilitator is responsible for managing the flow of the meeting, maintaining the schedule, and ensuring that all participants adhere to the established procedures. Consensus by a majority of the Decision-Maker(s) is sufficient to constitute a finding regarding responsibility.

The College will undertake its best effort to ensure that at least one faculty and one staff member serve as Decision-Maker(s) at each Hearing. Students may also serve as Decision-Maker(s), but only for certain alleged violations of the Code and at the discretion of the Dean of Students or designee.

Additional Procedural Rights for Hearings

- Right to Evidence: The Respondent has the right to all evidence presented. Hearings may be conducted with the Respondent physically present in the same geographic location or, at the College's discretion, the Respondent and/or witnesses, and other participants may appear at the Hearing virtually, with the appropriate technology to ensure a simultaneous hearing. If a Respondent fails to participate in the Hearing without good cause, a decision concerning responsibility and sanction(s), if applicable, will be made in the Respondent's absence.
- Right to an Advisor: The Respondent has the right to have an advisor of their choice present throughout the Conduct Review Process, including at the Hearing. The College reserves the right to disqualify an advisor based on misconduct or other good cause. Advisors are not permitted to speak at the Hearing or in any meetings, but Respondents may communicate with their advisor through writing or may request a reasonable number of breaks to consult with their advisor.
- Right to Present Relevant Evidence and Witnesses: The Respondent may present evidence or witnesses who have personal and relevant knowledge of the alleged conduct. The Respondent must provide the Decision-Maker(s) with a list of witnesses prior to the Hearing. Failure to do so may result in the exclusion of witnesses. This list must include the witnesses' names, contact information, and a summary of the knowledge they have regarding the alleged conduct. The Decision-Maker(s) may limit the presentation of evidence or witnesses if deemed irrelevant or cumulative. The Decision-Maker(s) are permitted to ask questions of the Respondent and the witnesses at the Hearing.
- Written Notice: Upon conclusion of the Hearing, the Respondent will receive a written notice of the decision, which will include any sanctions imposed if applicable, as well as information regarding the Respondent's right to appeal.

Sanctions

The sanctions imposed shall be reasonable and proportionate to the nature and severity of the violation. Sanctions include, but are not limited to:

- Written Warning that shall become part of the student's education record.
- Fines are a monetary sanction assigned by the College.
- Restitution either to the Complainant or the College. Completion of a work assignment(s) may, in some circumstances, be substituted for a monetary payment.
- Restriction either from specific locations on campus such as the residence halls, and/or during specific times. The restriction may be for a fixed period of time or permanent.
- Educational Sanction used to provide additional education related to the behavior or incident. Students assigned an educational sanction will be given a detailed description of the assignment. Examples of educational sanctions include, but are not limited to, self-assessment surveys, written assignments, and presentations.
- Probation with or without conditions such as exclusion from participation in extracurricular activities, the requirement to make restitution, or to complete some specific assignment. Satisfying the conditions of probation is a prerequisite to receiving a degree or certificate and failure to honor the terms of the probation shall result in the reconsideration of the original sanction.
- Residence Probation is a specified period of time where any further unacceptable behavior may be cause for removal from the residential living community.
- Residence Relocation is the requirement of a residential student to move from one residential living community to another residential living community due to unacceptable and inappropriate behavior. The student will be reassigned by the relevant residential living community staff.
- Residence Removal is the immediate termination of a residential student's on-campus housing contract.
- Revocation of Admission to the College.
- Revocation of Degree from the College.
- Suspension is forced withdrawal from the College for a specified period of time, and may include exclusion from classes, termination of student status and all related privileges and activities, and exclusion from the campus. If a student, while suspended, violates any of the terms set forth in the notice of suspension, the student shall be subject to further discipline in the form of expulsion.
- Suspension held in abeyance is when suspension is withheld, but if additional violations of college policy occur, the student may be suspended from the College.
- Treatment Compliance where the student will be required to comply with any treatment, referrals and educational activities which may be recommended and to provide documentation of official discharge from treatment provider upon completion.
- Trespass A suspension of a student's right to enter a specific building on College property, locations on campus, or any of the College buildings off-campus. When appropriate, a trespass notice may include the suspension of a student's right to represent the College at RIC-sponsored or related events. When a trespass notice is given, the student will receive a detailed explanation of the parameters. In the event there is a report that the student has violated the trespass notice, the student may be suspended in accordance with the Student Handbook.
- Expulsion is a permanent separation from the College.

Restorative Justice

Restorative justice may be considered as an option in cases where appropriate, following a discussion involving the Respondent and the Decision Maker, and requires the mutual consent and willingness of both the Complainant and the Respondent to participate in the process.

The purpose of restorative justice is to provide the opportunity for discussion, understanding, acknowledgment and acceptance of responsibility as well as the best manner to repair the harm and damage caused.

Appeal

The decision concerning responsibility and/or sanctions made during the Administrative Process or Hearing is considered final unless a timely appeal is filed on one or both of the following grounds:

1. There is relevant, new information that was not available at the time of the Administrative Process or Hearing that reasonably could have altered the outcome.
2. There was a procedural error or irregularity in the Conduct Review Process that affected the outcome.

Students have five (5) business days from the date of their decision letter to submit a formal letter of appeal to the Vice President for Student Success or designee (the Appeal Officer). The written appeal must be submitted to the Appeal Officer using the following link: Notice of Appeal. Appeal letters should state the grounds for appeal and provide a rationale to support the stated grounds.

Within five (5) business days of receiving the written appeal, the Appeal Officer will review the appeal to determine if it satisfies the bases for appeal as described above. If the appeal filed does not satisfy the bases for appeal, the Respondent will be notified in writing. If the appeal does satisfy the bases for appeal, the Appeal Officer will review the appeal and make a decision within seven (7) business days and will notify the Respondent in writing, this time frame maybe extended for good cause by the Decision Maker. The decision rendered on appeal shall be final and is not subject to further review or appeal.

Any sanctions outlined in the written notice of decision will be instituted at the conclusion of the appeal. In the case that interim measures are in place, those measures will remain in place until the appeal is concluded. The decision concerning the appeal will be deemed final on either of the following dates: If an appeal is filed, the date that the Appeal Officer provides the Respondent with written notice of the decision regarding the appeal; or if an appeal is not filed, the date on which an appeal would no longer be considered timely (five [5] business days from receiving the written notice of decision).

SECTION II: MEDICAL AMNESTY POLICY

The College prioritizes the health and safety of the campus community. The College recognizes that in situations where students or their guests on campus face potentially dangerous medical emergencies due to alcohol consumption or drug use, fear of sanctions under the alcohol and drug policies outlined in the Student Code of Conduct may deter them from seeking necessary, life-saving medical attention. The Medical Amnesty policy seeks to encourage students to immediately seek assistance for themselves or others when dangerously intoxicated or impaired by shielding them from sanctions for violating the Student Code of Conduct under the following conditions:

Students Seeking Assistance for Themselves

1. Students who seek assistance for themselves may be exempted from sanctions for violating the Student Code of Conduct provided that they actively contact Residential Life & Housing Staff or the Campus Police to request medical attention.

2. Students granted Medical Amnesty will be required to meet with the Dean of Students and agree to a plan of action (education, counseling, etc.). Failure to comply with that plan will result in revocation of amnesty.
3. Medical Amnesty only exempts students from sanctions related to alcohol and drug use. It does not protect students from facing sanctions for other violations of the Student Conduct Code committed while intoxicated or impaired, including (but not limited to) destruction of property, physical assault, or sexual assault.
4. Medical Amnesty only extends to sanctions for violation of the Student Code of Conduct. It does not shield students from prosecution for violation of state or federal law related to alcohol and/or drug possession or use.

Students Seeking Assistance for Others

1. Students who notice that another student or guest is dangerously intoxicated or impaired are encouraged to intervene immediately to ensure their health and safety. This includes confiscating keys and calling for a cab, or contacting Campus Police, to prevent individuals from driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, as well as calling for medical attention for individuals suspected of suffering from alcohol poisoning, overdose, or other medical emergencies related to alcohol or drug use.
2. Medical Amnesty will only be granted to students who actively intervene in such situations. Bystanders who are present, but do not take active steps to seek assistance, will not be eligible for amnesty.
3. Taking active steps to intervene means (1) immediately contacting appropriate Residential Life & Housing representatives or Campus Police to request medical or other assistance; (2) remaining with the intoxicated or impaired individual until help arrives; and (3) remaining after help arrives to assist emergency responders and/or Campus Police in assessing the situation and reporting it.
4. Medical Amnesty exempts bystanders who actively intervene to assist intoxicated or impaired students or guests from sanctions related to alcohol and drug use. It does not exempt them from facing sanctions for other violations of the Student Code of Conduct, including (but not limited to) destruction of property, physical assault, or sexual assault.
5. The College strongly encourages students to seek help by reaching out to College officials (Resident Assistants, Resident Directors, Area Coordinators, Campus Police Officers) when medical assistance maybe necessary.
6. In any emergency involving alcohol or other drugs, call Campus Police at 401-456-8888 or 911 immediately for assistance.

Student Organizations

Student Organizations are expected to comply with the Student Code of Conduct at all times. This includes neither facilitating nor sanctioning the use of either alcohol or drugs at events sponsored by the organization. Student Organizations are not eligible for Medical Amnesty. However, Student Organizations and their members are expected to actively intervene to seek medical assistance for students or guests who become dangerously intoxicated or impaired at organization-sponsored events. Providing assistance to such individuals will be taken into consideration when determining sanctions for Student Organizations that violate the Student Code of Conduct. Failure to actively seek assistance for students or guests who become dangerously intoxicated or impaired at organization-sponsored events will result in more severe sanctions.

Residents are issued College Identification (ID) cards during their first semester at the College, which are used in the library, dining center and to access some residential hall rooms/suites. Other rooms/suites are accessed via keys, which residents will receive at check-in. Residence hall keys may not be duplicated. At no time should any resident loan their key to any other person. Nor should residents loan their ID to any other person. Residents should carry their ID with them at all times and are required to produce their ID at the request of any College official, including Campus Police and Residential Life staff.

- Lost Key: Residents must report lost keys to Res Life and will receive a temporary replacement set upon request. Due to the security risk involved in lost keys, a lock change may be required. Prices for a lock change may cost as much as $100.
- Lost ID: Replacement ID cards will be issued at a cost at the Student ID Office in the Student Union (401) 456-8394. Report lost ID cards immediately.

Personal Property

The College is not responsible for the personal property and belongings of residents. This includes items in rooms, in storage, in the laundry machines, being delivered on a Resident's behalf, or under any other circumstances. It is each resident's responsibility to take precautions to secure their personal property at all times and the College strongly encourages that all residents obtain personal property insurance to protect their items from loss, damage, or theft. The College reserves the right to remove and dispose of any unidentified/unclaimed items from all areas in the residence halls, as well as any personal property or belongings left abandoned in a room/suite after a resident moves out.

Additionally, residents are jointly and severally responsible for property damage in any suite. In certain instances, the property damage may constitute a violation of the Code requiring residents to participate in the Conduct Review Process.

SECTION IV: ACADEMICS

The following section includes highlights for students from the Rhode Island College Manual of Academic Policies and Procedures. A full and detailed listing of all academic policies and procedures can be found online in the Rhode Island College Manual of Academic Policies and Procedures \(MAPP\).

The Manual of Academic Policies and Procedures (MAPP), is an official academic manual maintained by the Committee on Academic Policies and Procedures. The MAPP covers the following areas and topics: Admissions; Academic Advisement; Course Credit-Uses and Types; Course Load; Registration; Change of Curriculum, Major, Concentration, or Minor; Grading; Examinations; Academic Standards; Graduate Requirements and Residency Requirements; Academic Grievance Procedure; Reinstatement to the College; Attendance Regulations; Class Length and Cancellation; Field Trips; Student Records; Eligibility for Participation in Intercollegiate Sports; Web Communications.

Below are highlights from the MAPP that students may find helpful when navigating academic questions. Please also see the 2025-2026 Rhode Island College Academic Calendar for current dates as they relate to the MAPP.

Academic Advising:

Academic advisement is crucial to a student's success at Rhode Island College. The College believes that the student and the College share responsibility for the overall success of the advising process.

Where can I find my Academic Advisor?

Students can find their assigned faculty advisor through their MyRIC account or by contacting the department chair of their major. Students who are exploring majors and nursing-intended majors are advised by Office of Academic Advising (OAA), academicadvising@ric.edu, 401-456-8083.

Why is there an advising hold on my record?

Each semester, advising holds are placed for all degree students. In order to release their advising hold (for fall and spring registration), students must consult/meet with their academic advisor(s) each semester (except for summer).

How do I declare/change my major?

Students should contact the department chair or program director of their planned major. The chair or program director will assign an advisor. Exploring majors should officially declare a major as early in their academic career as possible, but by no later than 45 earned credits or a registration hold will be placed.

How does the college officially communicate with me?

Rhode Island College email is an official form of communication with students. Students should retain all official documents and communications from the college for future reference.

What courses do I need to take to meet the requirements for my major?

Academic Rhode Maps, for all undergraduate bachelor degree programs, are intended to guide students toward graduation in a timely manner. Here you will find Recommended Course and Checkpoints needed to complete a program, graduate along with course prerequisites and possible minimum grades.

You can also learn more about RIC's General Education Program that provides a foundation for deeper study in a wide range of academic disciplines. Through the General Education Program, students develop the skills and habits of mind necessary for full participation in an increasingly complex world.

How do transfer credits apply at RIC?

You may transfer up to 90 credits from a regionally accredited college or university for courses in which you have earned a grade of C or higher, as long as the courses are comparable to what is taught at RIC.

You will receive a preliminary, unofficial credit evaluation upon acceptance to Rhode Island College. An official evaluation of transfer credit will be completed by the Office of Undergraduate Admissions for all students once they enroll at the college.

Students may view a list of corresponding courses using RIC's Transfer Evaluation System (TES). Students transferring from CCRI or URI are advised to visit the state transfer website for more information regarding transfer within the RI state system.

Prior to acceptance, applicants may log in to Transferology, and see how their classes will transfer to Rhode Island College.

Rhode Island College also accepts proficiency credit awarded through the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests and DANTES (armed forces).

JST transcripts are evaluated for prior learning credit. Students submitting military transcripts will receive a separate letter awarding credit based on ACE Credit Recommendations included in the JST.

How can I have credits taken at another institution applied towards my graduation from RIC?

A student desiring to receive credit towards graduation for courses taken at other institutions must, before the work is undertaken, have these courses approved by the chair of the department in which credit is sought. The student must submit an Authorization of Credit Form to the Registrar's Office prior to the beginning of the course. Credit for courses taken at other colleges will be treated as transfer credits.

How do I add/drop a course?

The first two weeks of the fall and spring semesters constitutes the Add/Drop Period. During the first week (7 calendar days), students who wish to change their registration by adding or dropping a course section may do so using MyRIC. No consultation or permission is required, but consultation with an advisor and/or the instructor is strongly encouraged. No transcript record of enrollment will be maintained for courses dropped during this period.

During the second week (7 calendar days) students are able to add a course only with prior consultation with the instructor and with the approval of the department chair. Registration ends at the conclusion of the add period.

Exceptions for individuals requesting registration thereafter may only be processed by the Registrar by permission of the Academic Dean following the approval of the course instructor and department chair.

During the second week students are able to drop a course using MyRIC without approval. No transcript record of enrollment will be maintained for courses dropped during the two-week Add/Drop period. Students are not financially responsible for courses dropped during this period.

After the two-week Add/Drop Period students may not withdraw themselves. Faculty may approve and submit a grade of W up until 2 weeks following the due date for midterm grades (deadline date for Ws appears in the academic calendar) after which a regular letter grade must be assigned. A W grade may no longer be assigned as a final grade.

Before the Start of a Semester

A student may add or drop courses or sections using MyRIC. No consultation or permission is required, but consultation with an advisor and/or the instructor is encouraged. Dropping a course(s) may impact financial aid, scholarships (including HOPE eligibility), eligibility for athletics and/or veterans' benefits. No transcript record of enrollment will be maintained for courses dropped during this period.

Note: Students in the Bachelor of Professional Studies (BPS) program do not have an add period and have a shortened drop period as listed in the BPS Academic Calendar each semester.

The Registrar's Office also has general registration information to aid you in the registration process and directions for adding and dropping a course. They can be reached at records@ric.edu, 401-456-8213.

How do students withdraw from a course?

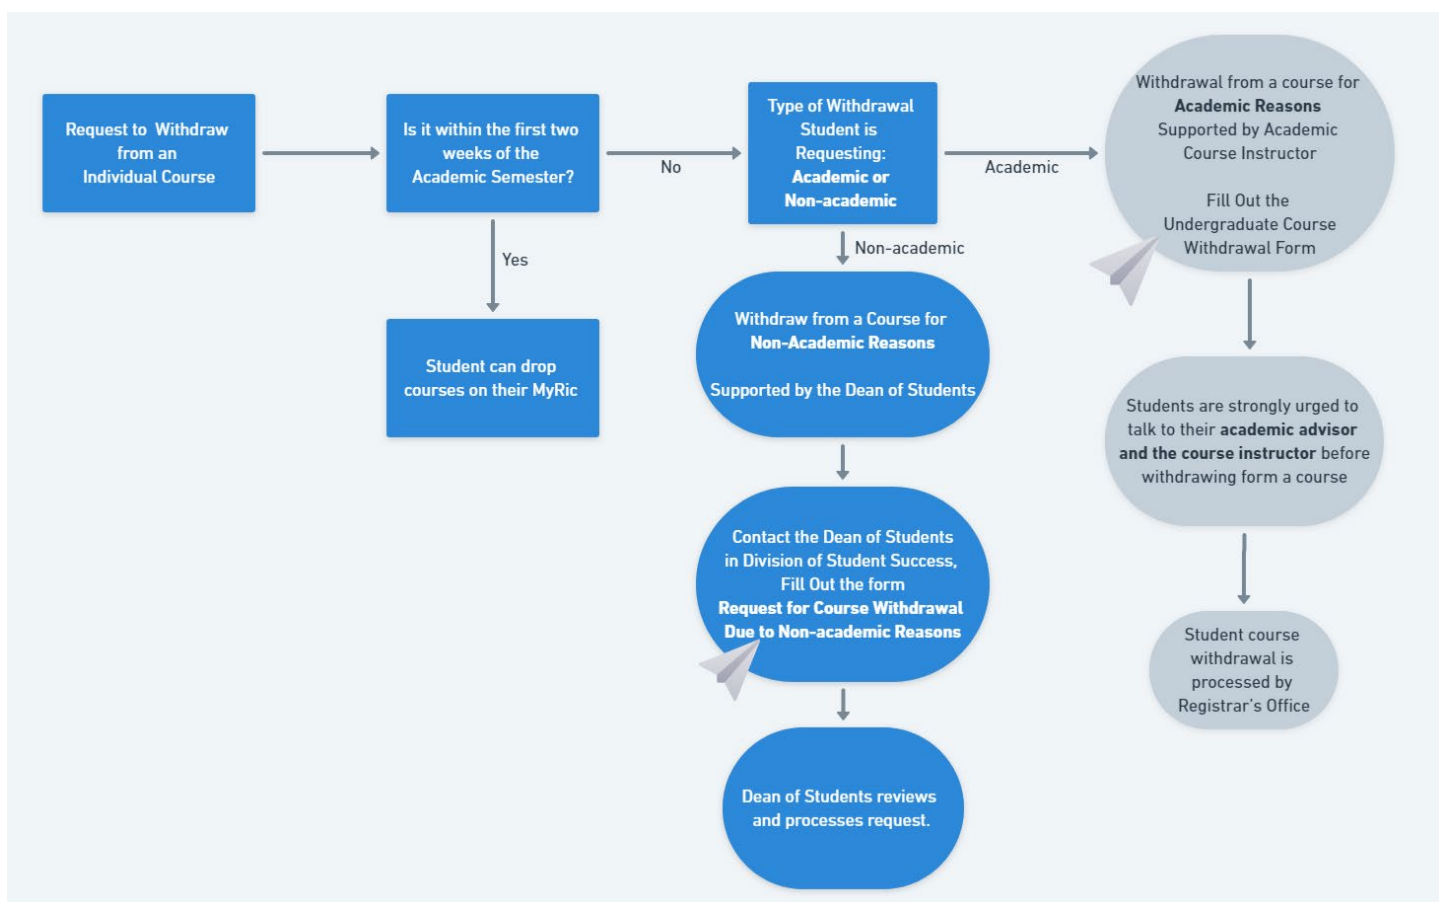

Course withdrawals have potential impact on a student's time to degree, cost of degree, financial aid, scholarships (including HOPE eligibility), eligibility for athletics and/or veterans benefits. Students are strongly encouraged to meet with their instructor and advisor when considering withdrawing from a course. Please note that a course withdrawal occurs after the add/drop period and is not considered a "drop". Students may withdraw from a course using the Course Withdrawal Form which requires the student's signature. Please refer to the Academic Calendar to see the course withdrawal deadline.

Students seeking a course or semester withdrawal for extenuating non-academic reasons (medical, extenuating and/or call to active duty,) should be referred to the Dean of Students. For situations involving disability accommodations or pregnancy modifications, the Dean of Students Office will collaborate with the Center for Disability Access and the Office of Institutional Equity (Title IX Coordinator) to ensure appropriate options and processes. Students are asked to fill out a Course Withdrawal Form Due to Non-academic Reasons.

W grades count as an attempt when repeating courses.

Faculty may not assign a W as a final grade.

Individual Course Withdrawal Procedure

What if a course withdrawal is due to a disability?

Students may request disability-related accommodations from the Disability Access Center if needed to facilitate equal educational opportunities in the course withdrawal (for academic reasons) process whether related to an extension for disability-related circumstances or access to supports.

Does RIC have a process for students to take a Leave of Absence from College and plan to return?

Students seeking to withdraw from a course(s) for non-academic, military, personal or medical reasons may submit a request for a leave of absence up until the last day of classes for the semester by submitting a Request for Course\(s\) Withdrawal due to Non-academic Reasons Form. Documentation is required. Students log into the form using their RIC credentials. If approved, a grade of W/L will be assigned. The W/L grade is not calculated in the student's GPA nor is it counted toward the maximum number of 5 W's a student is allowed while at RIC. Any form of W grade may have an impact on a student's financial aid, so students should contact their financial aid counselor to discuss. Please visit the Financial Aid more information or to contact your Financial Aid Counselor. Please note that requesting and/or being approved for a Leave of Absence does not change any financial obligation a student has with Rhode Island College.

What is the process to request a Leave of Absence for students called to military duty?

Students called to active military duty during the semester may submit a request for a leave of absence up until the last day of classes for the semester using the Request for Course\(s\) Withdrawal due to Non-academic Reasons Form. Documentation is required. If approved, a grade of W/M will be assigned. The W/M grade is not calculated in the student's GPA.

What if a student chooses to withdraw from the College and does not plan to return?

Students who wish to withdraw from the college (from all classes), whether or not they plan on returning, should be advised to complete the official withdrawal process by submitting a College Withdrawal Form. This process should be completed before withdrawing from all courses in order to protect the student's records and facilitate readmission.

Students who complete the withdrawal process within the add/drop period will not have any grades on their RIC transcript. No record of the courses will appear on the transcript if the student withdraws before the end of the add period. Those completing the process after the add/drop period will have W grades on their transcript. Students who may wish to return to RIC at a later date will be subject to any current reactivation or readmission policies.

Can a course be repeated?

Courses may be repeated only once. This policy applies to courses taken for undergraduate credit unless subject to restrictions within undergraduate programs. W grades count as a repeat. When a course is repeated, whichever grade is higher (original or repeat) will be calculated in the cumulative grade point average. In order for the GPA to be adjusted, courses must be repeated at Rhode Island College.

A student who wishes to enroll in a course for a third time must request permission to do so via petition to the Undergraduate Academic Standing Committee (UASC) prior to registering for the course. If the UASC approves the second repeat, the grade from the second repeat, if higher, replaces the previous attempts in calculating the GPA. Once students have graduated, courses may not be repeated in order to obtain a higher grade on the transcript.

Rhode Island College Catalog – Webpage for the Rhode Island College Catalog

- The online college catalog contains descriptions of undergraduate and graduate academic policies as well as outlines of degree requirements and course descriptions. Students are encouraged to read the College Catalog carefully. Students are normally bound by the requirements in force when the student enters degree candidacy. College catalogs back to 2005 are available online the link above. Every effort is made to ensure that the College Catalog is as complete and accurate as possible at the time of publication; however, notice should be taken of the following disclaimers that are included with the publication:

"This catalog was prepared on the basis of information available at the time of publication. Therefore, specific statements concerning fees, dates, course offerings, admission requirements, financial aid practice and policies, graduation requirements, and other procedures or policies may be subject to change without notice."

"Each step of the educational process, from admission through graduation, requires continuing review and appropriate approval by college officials. The college, therefore, reserves the right to change the requirements contained in this bulletin, to determine whether a student has satisfactorily met the requirements for admission or graduation, and to reject any applicant for admission for any reason the college determines to be material to the applicant's qualifications to pursue higher education."

Semester Course Offerings – Course Bulletin

- The course bulletin lists the courses to be offered each semester, including the time, location, and instructor for each offering. The bulletin also provides the unique number for each course, which you must know in order to register, as well as other essential registration information and instructions.
- Students may view course offerings through Class Search in MyRIC. Before each term, the college publishes an online bulletin listing the course offerings available in the Course Bulletin.

State Transfer Website – Transfer Student Admission

- The RI Transfers website, published online by the Office of Postsecondary Education contains the policies for articulation and transfer agreed to by RIC, CCRI and URI as well as a number of other colleges and universities. The Guide includes procedures relating to articulation between programs and transfer of students from one college or university to another. In addition, the guide is designed to show students how courses offered at CCRI are accepted at RIC and URI and vice versa. The site also shows articulation for AP and CLEP tests.

Course Registration

What is RICs Course Registration Process?

The Registrar's Office is responsible for the administration of the registration procedure for class enrollment. Registration appointment times are posted in students' MyRIC accounts for degree students and nondegree students who have created a user account. Information regarding tuition, fees and payment arrangements is available online Bursar's Office or by contacting the Bursar's Office at bursar@ric.edu, 401-456-8130.

Degree Candidates (Undergraduate and Graduate)

Degree candidates are assigned a specific time to register and will not be allowed to register before their assigned time. Registration appointment times for degree students are posted in their MyRIC accounts.

Non-degree Students (Undergraduate and Graduate)

Non-degree students, both undergraduate and graduate, register later than degree students for spring, summer and fall semesters. Registration dates for non-degree students are posted online in the college's academic calendar and in MYRIC for non-degree students who have created an online account.

Does RIC offer pre-registration?

Some departments may offer early registration for their courses. This procedure is usually restricted to departmental majors and allows students to enroll before the normal registration period. Departments will notify students of pre-registration opportunities if they exist. Students, however, must still register at their designated time for course work outside their major.

Can I register for classes if I have an outstanding balance owed to the College?

Academic credit, degrees, grade reports, and transcripts are not granted to students who have not fulfilled all financial obligations to the college. Students who have past due balances greater than $1000 will have a registration hold placed by the Bursar's Office. The Bursar's Office will attempt to assist the students depending on the balance and their ability to pay. If a student's registration is cancelled due to non-payment and the student then makes the necessary payment, there is no guarantee that they will be able to re-register for the same course(s) and/or section(s) from which they were dropped.

Students who are offered financial aid awards to cover the cost of tuition and fees will receive an electronic aid package. Students who decline the aid award (and, therefore, are liable for the tuition and fees themselves) will not have their registrations canceled by the college at the time the aid is declined. The student's responsibility in this case is to drop all courses which will not be paid for by financial aid or by the student. Students who fail to drop courses will be subject to a failing grade.

For a full listing of current tuition and fees, or for more information about your student account, please visit the Bursar's Office or contact the Bursar's Office at bursar@ric.edu, 401-456-8130.

RIC students are also assigned a professional financial aid counselor to assist with financial aid questions, please visit the Financial Aid Meet Your Counselor webpage for contact information of your Financial Aid Counselor. Financial Aid can also be reached at financialaid@ric.edu, 401-456-8033.

What if there is a schedule conflict for a course that if need?

Students may not schedule a course in any manner that renders full attendance in each course impossible.

If a course is not offered when a student needs it, the student shall consult her/his faculty advisor regarding the substitution of an equivalent course. Upon recommendation of the advisor, acceptability of the substitution shall be determined by the department chair.

What does auditing a course mean?

By auditing, a student participates in a course without receiving credit or having the grade point average affected. Auditing requires the permission of the instructor and of the appropriate department chair, who together determine the student's responsibility to the course. A course may be audited only if registration for it has not been closed. Preference must go to those enrolling for credit. During the first two weeks of a semester, a course may be added for audit or changed from audit to credit through the regular Add/Drop procedures. After that time and up to mid-term, a course may be changed from credit to audit. The course, in the latter instance, must be dropped for credit and added for audit.

Please note that under no circumstances will audited courses be counted for credit toward a degree. NOTE: No student may receive credit for a course for which the student is not officially registered ("sitting in" on a class does not constitute official registration).

Course Load

Undergraduate

Full time status is defined as students who enroll for 12 or more credit hours during the fall or spring semesters. Normally, no student shall be permitted to enroll for more than 18 credit hours in the fall or the spring semester. Maximum course load during the summer is eight credit hours per summer session, or a total of 16 credit hours combined in the two summer sessions. Any exception to exceed the stated limit must be approved by the appropriate academic dean of the student's school (based on major) or for majors in the Faculty of Arts & Sciences (FAS) and the Feinstein School of Education & Human Development (FSEHD) or the associate dean.

Students should make the request via email (FSEHD also has a form students must complete). It is helpful if students first discuss an overload plan with their faculty advisor.

Graduate

In order to be considered full-time, graduate students must register for at least nine credit hours during a fall or spring semester or six credit hours during a summer session, except as indicated below. Any student registered for fewer credit hours is considered part-time. Maximum loads are fifteen credit hours per semester and eight credit hours per summer session.

Students holding appointments as graduate assistants normally register for nine credits, but may register for a minimum of six credits and still be considered full-time. However, such students may not register for more than twelve credits without prior permission from the appropriate academic dean.

School of Social Work

The School of Social Work has special course load and residency requirements. Contact the school for complete information, 401-456-8042.

Declaration/Change of Major, Concentration or Minor

Every Rhode Island College student is expected to matriculate into a degree granting academic program prior to earning 60 credits. It is critical for timely and successful degree progression that students declare a major, along with concentrations (as applicable), and minors as early as possible.

Declaring or Changing a Major

Students seeking to add a new, or change an existing, major, minor, or concentration should speak with their academic advisor to understand how these changes may impact academic progress and time to degree. Students should contact the department chair or program director of their desired major, minor, or concentration to make any changes.

Exploring Majors

Exploring majors must declare a major by the time they have earned 45 credits (includes all earned, transfer, and test credits). Students without a declared major will have a registration hold placed.

Intended Majors

Students may not be in an Intended Major beyond 60 earned credits (including transfer and test credits). In rare cases, incoming transfer students transferring in with 60 or more credits may remain in an intended major for up to two semesters based on an exception allowed by their intended academic department.

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is the foundation of the academic community. Students who violate college rules on academic integrity are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure or removal from a course, disciplinary probation, and/or dismissal from the college. Individual schools may have additional standards and policies related to academic honesty.

The rules for academic integrity, and the penalties for violations, apply to all undergraduate and graduate, full-time and part-time students at Rhode Island College. Persons who withdraw from the college after allegedly violating these standards, who are not officially enrolled for a particular term but who have a continuing relationship with the college or who have been notified of their acceptance for admission are considered “students.” In such cases a student may be prevented from re-enrolling or may be readmitted with certain restrictions until the case is resolved.

Prohibited Behavior Academic integrity is the foundation of the academic community. Students who violate college rules on academic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure or removal from a course, disciplinary probation, and/or dismissal from the college. Individual schools may have additional standards and policies related to academic honesty.

What constitutes a violation of academic integrity?

Examples of violations of academic integrity include (but are not limited to):

- Cheating: intentionally using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in any academic exercise.
- Fabrication: intentional and unauthorized falsification or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise.
- Plagiarism: intentionally or knowingly representing the words or ideas of another as one's own in any academic exercise. The following are examples of plagiarism:
 - Word-for-word plagiarism: This includes:
 - the submission of another student's work as one's own;
 - the submission of work from any source whatever (print or electronic) without proper acknowledgement by footnote or reference within the text of the paper;
 - the submission of any part of another's work without proper use of quotation marks.
 - Patchwork plagiarism:
 - This consists of a piecing together of unacknowledged phrases and sentences quoted verbatim (or nearly verbatim) from a variety of sources. The mere reshuffling of other people's words does not constitute original work.
 - Unacknowledged paraphrase:
 - It is perfectly legitimate to set forth another author's facts or ideas in one's own words, but if one is genuinely indebted to the other author for these facts or ideas, the debt must be acknowledged by footnote or reference within the text of the paper (e.g., the above paragraphs are based largely on Sears, Harbrace Guide to the Library and Research Paper, p. 39).
 - Collusion: Facilitating academic dishonesty intentionally or knowingly helping or attempting to help another to commit an act of academic dishonesty.
 - Deception: Providing false information to an instructor concerning a formal academic exercise, e.g. giving a false excuse for missing a deadline or falsely claiming to have submitted work.
 - Sabotage: Acting to prevent others from completing their work. This includes cutting pages out of library books or willfully disrupting the experiments of others.

- Multiple Submissions: Submitting for credit, when a student has not been given permission to do so, any work that is the same or substantially the same as work that has been submitted for credit in another course. Many professors allow re-working or building on prior work; however, multiple submissions are permitted only with the prior permission of the instructor(s), and only when the student acknowledges the multiple submission in the work itself.

What is the process for adjudicating alleged violations of Academic Integrity?

Formal adjudication of alleged violations of academic integrity is conducted by the Academic Integrity Board. A faculty member may take action up to and including failing a student accused of a violation of academic integrity. Some often-used penalties include:

- A low or failing grade on the assignment in which the offense occurred.
- An additional assignment.
- Reduction of the final grade up to and including failure.
- Any combination of the above.

In all cases, a report describing the nature of the violation and the subsequent action taken by the faculty member shall be filed with the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs. Additionally, the faculty member may recommend that the Academic Integrity Board recommend further action.

In the case of graduate students, the director of the graduate program may convey the recommendation of a penalty of probation or dismissal from the program to the academic dean of the school in which the student is enrolled.

The Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs shall maintain a file of any and all reports of violations of academic integrity. At the discretion of the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs and depending upon the severity of the infraction, the student may be informed in writing about possible consequences of further infractions. In the case of multiple infractions, the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs will refer the student's name to the Academic Integrity Board for review and possible action.

What is the Academic Integrity Board and what is their role?

The Council of Rhode Island College created the Academic Integrity Board \(AIB\), composed of students, faculty and administration. The AIB has authority to establish, publish and implement procedures for adjudicating alleged violations of academic integrity by students. It is authorized to hear and adjudicate charges against individual students in cases of violations of academic integrity.

The Academic Integrity Board shall consider cases referred to it by a faculty member or the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs, and has the option to recommend any penalties ranging from those available to the faculty member to placing the student on academic probation or expelling the student from the college.

The Academic Integrity Board can also hear appeals.

Appeals Procedure

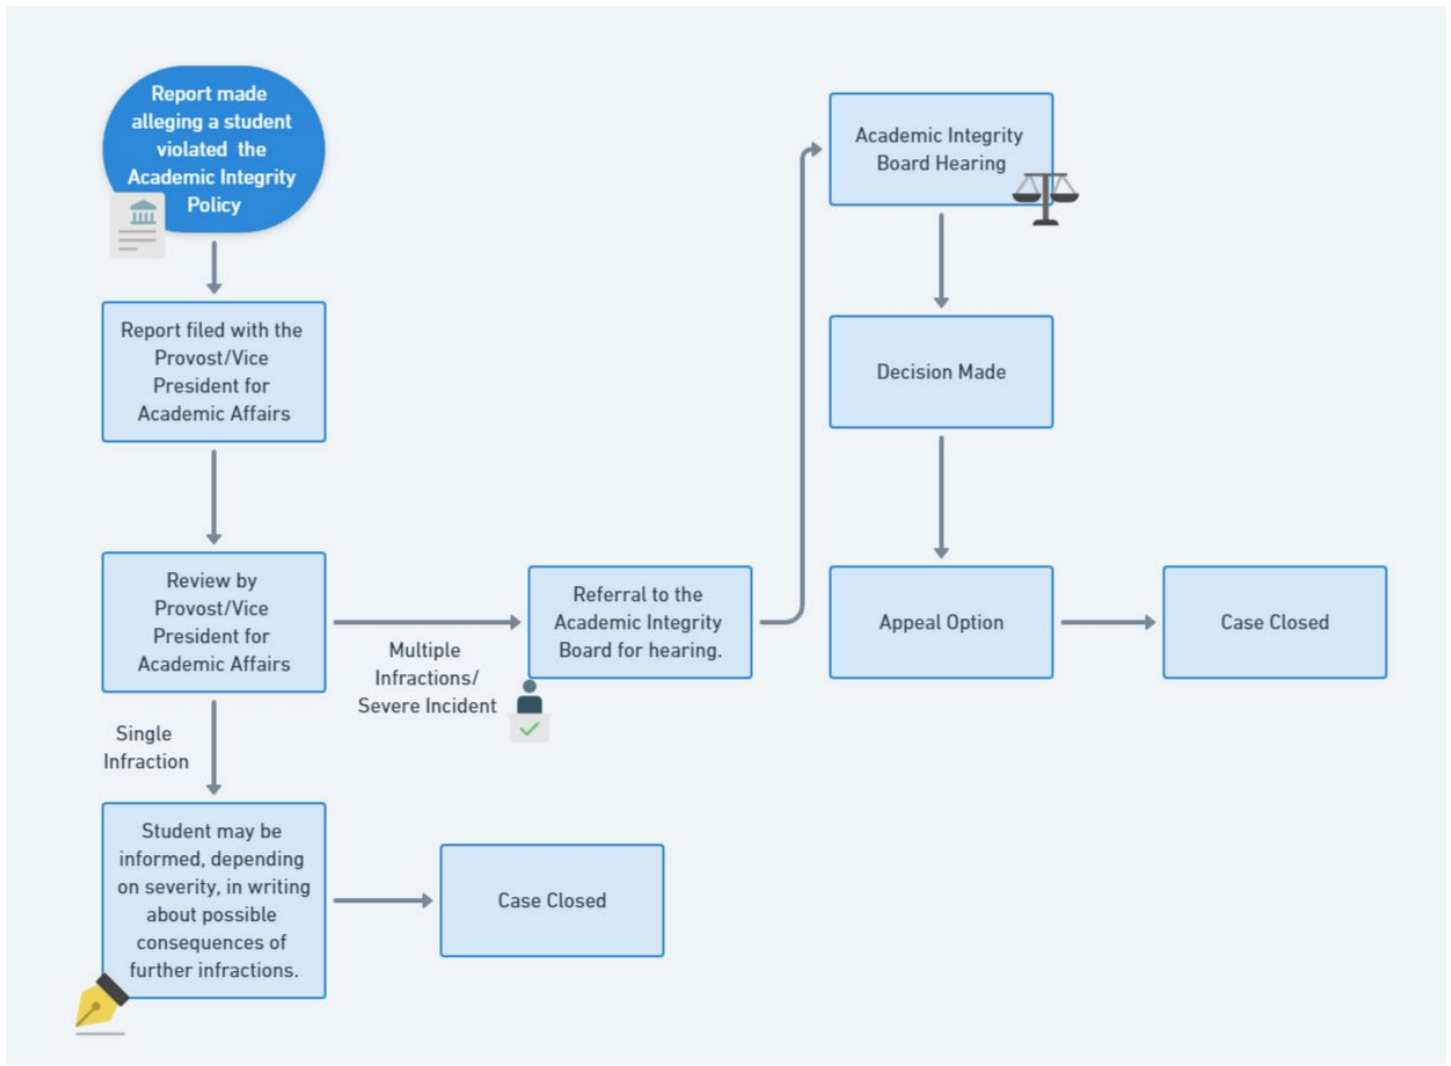

- Appeals or referrals to the Board will follow the standard procedure of the Board.
- The Board shall inform the student, the faculty member, and Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs of its decision.
- A record of the cases concerning violations of academic integrity will be kept in the Office of the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs.
- A student may appeal the decision of the Academic Integrity Board to the Provost/Vice President of Academic Affairs. Appeals may be considered on the basis of new information or procedural errors.

What are the Academic Integrity hearing procedures?

1. The student accused will be given written notice of an academic integrity violation.
2. The chair of the board shall schedule the time, date and place of the hearing(s), to be held, normally at least five days following the student's notification but normally within thirty days. The chair shall rule on any other procedural matters raised by either party.
3. Any documentary evidence that any witness or party wishes to present at the hearing shall normally be submitted to the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs (VPAA) as far in advance of the hearing as possible. The Provost/VPAA shall forward all evidence to the AIB Chair. The chair will share all evidence with the Board prior to the hearing. The accused may view the evidence prior to the hearing by contacting the chair and arranging to have the materials viewed. Any documentary evidence not submitted in advance of the hearing shall be permitted at the discretion of the chair.
4. An accused student or a complaining witness may request that one or more members of the board be recused for good cause such as a conflict of interest or bias. The fact that one of more members of the board may have previously adjudicated a matter involving the student or witness(s) shall not, in and of itself constitute good cause. The chair shall rule on the request for recusal except when the chair is the subject of the recusal request in which case the remaining members shall make the ruling.
5. Board Hearings shall be conducted in private.
6. The accused student, the party bringing the charges forward, and a person of support for the accused student and the party bringing the charges forward may attend the hearing. However, the support person must be a member of the RIC community and may not be a member of the accused family. The support person may only speak to the board with the chair's approval. Attendance of any other witnesses shall be at the discretion of the chair.
7. The board's deliberations concerning the determination of guilt and the imposition of sanctions shall be conducted in executive session.
8. Where more than one student is accused of misconduct arising out of the same incident the accusations against all of the students shall be considered separately. The chair shall rule on any exceptions.
9. All members of the college community are expected to cooperate with the Academic Integrity Board and those who are prospective witnesses shall make themselves available at the hearing as necessary. The parties seeking to call witnesses from the college community shall contact the witnesses as far in advance of the hearing as possible. Hearsay evidence may be admitted at the discretion of the chair.
10. The hearings shall be conducted without the formal procedures that are followed in a court of law.
11. A recording shall be made of the hearing and a copy shall be provided to the accused student upon request.
12. Following the presentation of the case by the party bringing the charges forward and/or the Board, the accused student shall have the opportunity to respond.
13. Questions directed at the accused and the complainant (if present) will be asked by the board.
14. Normally, the party bringing the charges forward and accused student may not directly question each other.

15. Either side may make a closing argument with the accused student going last.
16. The board's determination shall be made on the basis of whether it is more likely than not that the accused student violated the Academic Integrity Code except where the likely sanction is either suspension for at least a semester or expulsion in which case the standard of proof shall be by clear and convincing evidence.
17. The board shall make its decision(s) on the evidence presented and arguments made at the hearing, in addition to evidence and findings related to previous hearings of the accused and college documents. If the accused student fails to appear, the Board shall proceed with the hearing and consider whatever evidence is presented.
18. Corrective actions may include but are not limited to: expulsion, suspension, academic probation, failure of a course, failure of assignment (s), and/or a prescription of work by an assigned Academic Integrity Advisor. The board may also prevent a student from graduating or being readmitted.
19. Notice of the board's decision, including information regarding any relevant right of appeal, shall be sent to the student, the faculty member, and the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs as soon as practicable.

Academic Integrity Review Procedure

Academic Disruptive Conduct

This policy addresses only student class disruptive conduct as defined here. Non-academic student conduct and threatening behavior (on or off campus) are addressed in the Student Code of Conduct referenced above.

- Classroom Management

This policy acknowledges the need for protection of academic freedom in the classroom, for faculty authority in classroom management, and for faculty and student safety in the classroom.

- Due Process

This policy respects faculty and student rights to due process in any event emanating from academic disruptive student conduct in the class.

- Rationale

In accordance to the rights and responsibilities of students set forth in the Student Handbook (referenced above) that addresses the policies and procedures for: a) defining academic disruptive conduct; b) students violating academic conduct standards; and c) faculty, staff, and administration for adjudicating students in violation of academic disruptive conduct policies.

Definitions

- Class: Class or classroom environment includes any formal or informal meeting and method of instruction, whether in person, hybrid, or online, for credit or not for credit. It includes laboratories, field trips, on-line discussion boards or blogs, clinical settings, internship placements, practicum, student teaching sites, and all other academic activities where instruction takes place. This policy shall not prohibit an outside agency from terminating a student's internship, field placement, clinical experience, or student teaching placement when that student violates the policies of that agency.
- Instructor: The person in charge of the class, laboratory, or other instructional settings. However, these procedures apply equally to disruptions in the computer center and laboratories, off-campus clinical settings, practicum or student teaching sites, the Library, student services areas, and other academic support areas such as OAA and The Writing Lab, etc.
- Disruptive Student Conduct: Student behavior that interferes with the ability of the instructor to teach and students to learn, or violation of an instructor's established rules of conduct for a particular class. Examples of disruptive student conduct include, but are not limited to:
 - Failing to respect the rights of other students to express their viewpoints
 - Carrying on distracting side conversations
 - Constant questions or interruptions which interfere with the instructor's presentation
 - Overt inattentiveness (e.g., sleeping, reading the paper, using laptops for nonclass-related activities)
 - Entering class late or leaving early
 - Use of cell phones in the classroom
 - Inordinate or inappropriate demands for time and attention
 - Use of sexist, racist, or offensive language
 - Verbal abuse or harassment (e.g., taunting, badgering, intimidation)
- Threatening Student Conduct: May result from the escalation of an initial disruptive situation where a student may pose a physical threat to the instructor or other students. This includes behavior that threatens, intimidates, or other inappropriate behavior exhibited toward the instructor or student outside of the classroom environment. Behaviors may include a violation of local, state, or federal law, a violation of Student Conduct Code or violation of Student Bill of Rights. If at any time a student threatens to harm the instructor, or other students or him/herself, the instructor should immediately dismiss the class and inform Campus Security to remove the student.

Policy on Disruptive Student Conduct

All students are required to abide by the rules of academic conduct established by the College and by individual instructors in their classes. Instructors have broad discretion to establish rules of conduct in order to responsibly protect their students in exercising their academic freedoms and for their personal safety. For these reasons, students shall not engage in disruptive behavior or negatively impact the classroom learning environment. Therefore, the instructor has the authority and responsibility to maintain order in the classroom. This includes the authority to temporarily remove a student who engages in disruptive behavior and to file a report of academic disruptive conduct for a student who interferes with the learning and teaching environment.

Academic Grievance Procedure

The filing of an academic grievance does not stay any action under College policy. If a student's grievance pertains to grading which has resulted in probationary status or dismissal from the College or graduate program, the probation or dismissal will become effective. An undergraduate student may, however, appeal the probation or dismissal to the Academic Standing Committee. A graduate student may appeal to the Graduate Dean or designee.

The primary purpose of this procedure is to secure, at the lowest level possible, an equitable solution to the problems of those students who have disputes with either an academic unit, the classroom, or grading conduct of faculty members.

Definitions

Complaint: A complaint may be any point at issue between a faculty member and a student in which a student feels that an abridgement of personal rights or benefits has occurred. A complaint may, but need not, constitute a grievance.

Grievance: A grievance means a difference, presented in writing, that may arise between a faculty member and a student with respect to, but not necessarily limited to:

- i. violation of established academic policies and regulations (e.g., examination policies, advisement policies, registration procedures);
- ii. arbitrary and capricious grading practices;
- iii. violation of the student's academic freedom, defined in the Student Handbook as "...the freedom to inquire, to discuss, to seek evidence, to speak, and to exchange ideas";
- iv. failure to meet obligations to students (adherence to regular class hours, taking timely action, or correcting errors).

Grievant: A grievant shall mean either:

- i. an individual student or
- ii. a group of students having the same grievance.

Working Day: A working day means any day on which the College is open for the transaction of business. For the purpose of handling grievances, working days during the semester break, the spring recess, and those days between the end of the summer session and the first day of classes of the next semester shall not be used to compute the time limitations contained in this procedure unless mutually agreeable to the parties involved.

Procedure for Handling Complaints

Student complaints should first be discussed with their faculty member involved. Any settlement, withdrawal, or disposition of a complaint at this informal stage shall not constitute a binding precedent in the settlement of similar complaints.

Procedure for Handling Student Grievances

Step 1: Faculty Level

1. The student should first attempt to resolve any academic issues with the faculty member involved. If this does not lead to a resolution, a written grievance must be presented to the faculty member involved within ten working days following their initial discussion, except in the case of final grades and then no later than the tenth working day of the next full semester. This time limit shall not apply if a purely clerical error is discovered.
2. The grievance statement must include a summary of not more than one page stating the specific policy or policies violated or the exact nature of the grievance, the specific actions upon which it is based, and the remedy being sought. Supplementary materials may be presented to support the grievance.
3. Within ten working days of the receipt of the grievance, the faculty member shall meet with the grievant to discuss the grievance. The grievant and the faculty member may each choose to bring to the meeting one person from the Rhode Island College community who is not a family member of either the grievant or the faculty member. Within ten working days of the meeting, the faculty member shall issue a decision, setting forth the reasons therefore in writing to the grievant.

Step 2: Department Chair Level

1. If the grievance is not resolved through Step 1, the grievant may submit the grievance in writing to the appropriate department chair within ten working days of the grievant's receipt of the decision of the faculty member. Within ten working days of the receipt of the grievance, the department chair shall meet with the grievant and the faculty member (either jointly or separately) to discuss the grievance and may discuss the grievance with the departmental advisory committee.
2. The grievant and the faculty member may each choose to bring to the meeting one person from the Rhode Island College community who is not a family member of either the grievant or the faculty member.
3. The department chair shall issue a decision, setting forth the reasons therefore in writing to the grievant and the faculty member involved within ten working days of the meeting with the parties involved. In the case of grades, the decision of the department chair shall be final, unless upon appeal the person at the next higher level of appeal determines that the cause of the grievance is other than disagreement with academic judgment.

Step 3: Academic Dean Level

1. If the grievance is not resolved through Step 2, the grievant may submit the grievance in writing to the appropriate academic dean within ten working days of the grievant's receipt of the decision of the department chair.
2. Within ten working days of the receipt of the grievance, the academic dean shall meet with the grievant and the faculty member (either jointly or separately) to discuss the grievance.
3. The grievant and the faculty member may each choose to bring to the meeting one person from the Rhode Island College community who is not a family member of either the grievant or the faculty member.
4. Within ten working days of the meeting with the parties involved, the dean shall issue a decision, setting forth the reasons therefore in writing to the grievant, the faculty member involved, and the department chair.

Step 4: Provost/Vice President Level

1. If the grievance is not resolved through Step 3, the grievant may submit the grievance within ten working days of the grievant's receipt of the decision of the appropriate academic dean to the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs.
2. Within ten working days of the receipt of the grievance, the Vice President shall meet with the grievant and the faculty member (either jointly or separately) to discuss the grievance.
3. The grievant and the faculty member may each choose to bring to the meeting one person from the Rhode Island College community who is not a family member of either the grievant or the faculty member.
4. Within ten working days of the meeting with the parties involved, the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs shall issue a decision, setting forth the reasons therefore in writing to the grievant, the faculty member involved, and the appropriate academic dean.

Step 5: President's Level

1. If the grievance is not resolved through Step 4, the grievant may submit the grievance within ten working days of the grievant's receipt of the decision of the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs to the President.
2. Within ten working days of the receipt of the grievance, the President shall meet with the grievant and the faculty member (either jointly or separately) to discuss the grievance.
3. The grievant and the faculty member may each choose to bring to the meeting one person from the Rhode Island College community who is not a family member of either the grievant or the faculty member.
4. Within ten working days of the meeting with the parties involved, the President shall issue a decision, setting forth the reasons therefore in writing to the grievant, the faculty member involved, department chair, the appropriate academic dean, and the Provost/Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Incomplete Grades

If circumstances beyond a student's control prevents them from completing assignments or from taking a final examination before the end of a course, a student can request an Incomplete. A student may request an Incomplete if they have successfully completed at least two-thirds of the course and only in those cases where it is mathematically possible to pass the class. An Incomplete should not serve as a mechanism to allow a failing student to earn a passing grade.

The faculty member retains the right to make the final decision on granting a student's request for an "I" providing the student meets the provisions above, even though the student may meet the eligibility requirements for this grade.

Please note that an incomplete is not counted in the determination of academic standing, however, it is counted in attempted credits and may have an impact on eligibility for financial aid, scholarship opportunities (including HOPE), athletic participation and the satisfaction of prerequisite credits. Remedial courses, which do not count towards graduation, may only be taken for an S/U grade.

To request an Incomplete grade:

- The student must complete the college's Agreement for Completion of Incomplete \(I\) Grade form with their instructor. The Agreement form must clearly outline the agreed to conditions for completion of unfinished coursework. Both the instructor and student must sign the Agreement; the instructor must submit the fully executed electronic form to the Registrar's Office no later than the date final grades are due. Both the instructor and student should keep a copy of the signed form.
- Dates for finishing an Incomplete:
 - Incomplete grades earned in the spring or summer semesters must be completed no later than the second Friday in October, Academic Calendar.
 - Incomplete grades earned in the fall semester must be completed no later than the second Friday in March, Academic Calendar.
- If the Incomplete grade is not finalized by the agreed-to deadline, the grade will change to what is noted on the Agreement for Completion of Incomplete (I) Grade Form. The instructor also has the right to set a shorter deadline with the student as deemed appropriate. Any change in due date must be included on the form.

- Students may request disability-related accommodations from the Disability Access Center if needed to facilitate equal educational opportunities in the Incomplete process whether related to an extension for disability-related circumstances or access to supports.
- Students approved for a Title IX accommodation by the college's Director of Institutional Equity will be entitled to an alternate form of extension and means of completion for an Incomplete grade.
- Students may appeal for an extension of the due date from the instructor. If an extension is approved, the faculty member must notify the Registrar via email indicating the new due date. If denied, the student may appeal to the department chair, whose decision is final (except in cases where the instructor is also the chair, then the academic dean is the final appeal).
- Upon completion of the work, the faculty member must submit a Change of Grade form available through the Record's Office

Student Veterans

- Student veterans who withdraw from a course and have a W grade are required to return a portion of their benefits. An F does not require a return of benefits. However, the F has a greater impact on academic standing. The federal government allows a one-year grace period if the student veteran has an Incomplete instead of a W. Student veteran will be allowed two consecutive semesters following the course (summer sessions not included) to complete the course requirements for the Incomplete without needing to request permission for an extension, but it should be indicated on the Agreement for Completion of Incomplete (I) Grade form.

Graduating Seniors

- Degrees cannot be posted or conferred if the student has an Incomplete grade. All incompletes required for graduation must be completed by the last day of spring finals in order to be a May graduate. August graduates may walk in Commencement provided they have no more than 9 remaining credits (including Incompletes) which can be completed by the end of summer session II.

Academic Standing

Rhode Island College defines good academic standing as a minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 2.0. The academic standing policy applies to all undergraduate students, degree and nondegree, part time and full time. Maintaining good academic standing is crucial to demonstrating progress towards the completion of the degree.

Academic standing is based on the number of credit hours attempted, term and cumulative GPA. Following the posting of grades each fall and spring semester, the Registrar's Office reviews and determines the level of academic standing applicable to each student. Professional programs and some majors may have additional and/or higher academic standards which the student must meet at specific intervals. Please see Rhode Island College Manual of Academic Policies and Procedures \(MAPP\) section 9.4 for detailed information regarding the Academic Standing Policy

Repeating Courses

Please see the Registrar's Office for answers to frequently asked questions about repeating courses.

- Courses may be repeated only once. This policy applies to courses taken for undergraduate credit unless subject to restrictions within undergraduate programs. W grades count as a repeat

- When a course is repeated, whichever grade is higher (original or repeat) will be calculated in the cumulative grade point average. In order for the GPA to be adjusted, courses must be repeated at Rhode Island College.
- A student who wishes to enroll in a course for a third time must request permission to do so via petition to the Undergraduate Academic Standing Committee (UASC) prior to registering for the course. If the UASC approves the second repeat, the grade from the second repeat, if higher, replaces the previous attempts in calculating the GPA.
- Once students have graduated, courses may not be repeated in order to obtain a higher grade on the transcript.

SECTION IV: NON-DISCRIMINATION AND TITLE IX NOTICE

Rhode Island College does not discriminate on the basis of sex in the education program or activity that it operates, and is required by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 not to discriminate in such a manner. The requirement not to discriminate in the education program or activity extends to admission and employment. Inquiries about the application of Title IX to Rhode Island College may be referred to the Title IX Coordinator or to the Office for Civil Rights, or both.

Information regarding Title IX.

SECTION V: PREGNANCY POLICY

I. Policy Statement

The Council on Postsecondary Education, its constituent institutions of higher education (specifically, Rhode Island College and the Community College of Rhode Island) and the Office of Postsecondary Commissioner (collectively referred to as the “Covered Entities”) are committed to providing all students and employees with the opportunity to pursue and attain their individual goals as it relates to the Covered Entities’ admissions, employment, and educational programs or activities. This commitment includes students and employees who are pregnant, parenting, or experiencing pregnancy related conditions. The Covered Entities prohibit differential treatment or discrimination against students and employees based on the student or employee’s current, potential, or past parental, family, marital status, or pregnancy or related condition.

II. Definitions

“Pregnancy or related conditions” means:

- Pregnancy, childbirth, termination of pregnancy, or lactation.
 - Medical conditions related to pregnancy, childbirth, termination of pregnancy, or lactation.
 - Recovery from pregnancy, childbirth, termination of pregnancy, lactation, or related medical conditions.
- “Parental Status” for the purposes of this policy means a person who, with respect to another person who is under the age of 18 or who is 18 or older but is incapable of self-care because of a physical or mental disability, is a biological parent; adoptive parent; stepparent; foster parent; legal custodian or guardian; in loco parentis with respect to a person; or a person who is actively seeking legal custody, guardianship, visitation, or adoption of a person.

III. Student Pregnancy Disclosure

A student who is, or becomes, pregnant or has a related condition is strongly encouraged to notify the Covered Entity's Title IX Coordinator as soon as possible. By doing so, the student and the Title IX Coordinator can collaborate and develop an appropriate plan for the continuation of the student's education considering the unique nature of the Covered Entity's programs and requirements, as well as particular challenges the student may face while pregnant or while experiencing a pregnancy related condition.

If a College's employee is informed of a student's pregnancy or related condition by a student or a person who has a legal right to act on behalf of the student, the employee must provide the student or the student's representative with the relevant Title IX Coordinator's contact information for further assistance, unless the employee reasonably believes the Title IX Coordinator has already been notified.

Contact information for the College's Title IX Coordinator is as follows:

Rhode Island College
Ashley Ruderman-Looff, PhD
Director of Institutional Equity
Title IX Coordinator & Affirmative Action Officer
600 Mount Pleasant Avenue
Providence, RI 02908
401-456-8218
arudermanlooff@ric.edu

The employee will also inform the student or the student's representative that the Title IX Coordinator can coordinate specific actions to prevent sex discrimination and ensure the student's equal access to the College's education programs or activities. However, the choice to declare a student's pregnancy is voluntary, and students and employees are not required to disclose this information to the College.

After being notified by a student or the student's representative of the student's pregnancy or related condition, the Title IX Coordinator will do the following:

- Inform the student about the College's prohibition on sex discrimination, including sex-based harassment.
- Provide the student with the option of reasonable modifications due to the student's pregnancy or related conditions.
- Allow the student voluntary access to any separate and comparable portion of the College's education programs or activities.
- Allow the student a voluntary leave of absence for medical reasons and reinstatement for the student upon return from leave.
- Provide the student with a private, clean space for lactation that is a space other than a bathroom and is shielded from view and free from intrusion from others.

The College will not require students to submit supporting documentation for the above items, unless the documentation is necessary and reasonable for the College to determine the reasonable modifications to make, or whether to take additional, specific actions. Situations where supporting documentation is not necessary may include, but are not limited to, when the student's need for a specific action is obvious, such as when a student who is pregnant needs a bigger uniform; when the student has previously provided the College with sufficient supporting documentation; when the reasonable modification at issue is allowing a student to carry or keep water nearby and drink, use a bigger desk, sit or stand, or take breaks to eat, drink, or use the restroom; when the student has lactation needs; or when the requested action is available to other students for reasons other than pregnancy or related conditions and such students are not required to submit supporting documentation.

Additionally, the College will not require a student who is pregnant or has a related condition to provide certification from a healthcare provider or any other person that the student is physically able to participate in the College's class, program, or extracurricular activity unless:

- The certified level of physical ability or health is necessary for the student's participation in the class, program, or extracurricular activity;
- The College requires such certification of all students participating in the class, program, or extracurricular activity; and
- The information obtained is not used as a basis for discrimination.

IV. Options After Student Pregnancy Disclosure

Once a student has voluntarily disclosed a pregnancy or related condition to the College, the student has the following options:

Continue in the Program

- If a student decides to continue in the program and desires to have any modifications to the College's education programs and activities due to the pregnancy or related condition, the student should contact the Title IX Coordinator to discuss any reasonable modifications that may be necessary for the student to continue in the program. Such modifications, if any, are discussed in Section V below, and will be documented in the form in Addendum A which will be signed by both the student and a College representative.
- The College will also allow a student to voluntarily access any separate and comparable portion of the College's education program or activity.

Voluntary Leave of Absence

- Students have the option to take a leave of absence due to pregnancy or related condition. However, such a leave of absence is not required. Should a student choose to take a leave of absence, a student is permitted to do so based on the medical recommendation of the student's licensed healthcare provider.
- A leave of absence due to pregnancy or related condition may be for various amounts of time depending on a student's particular circumstances and the period deemed medically necessary by the student's licensed healthcare provider. Such a leave may be extended if deemed medically necessary by the student's licensed healthcare provider.
- Students are encouraged to communicate with faculty and supervisors regarding plans for leave to ensure a smooth return to campus.
- International students are further encouraged to contact their international advisor immediately, as a leave could require the student to leave the country.
- When a student returns from a leave of absence, the student will be reinstated to the same academic status and, where applicable, extracurricular status, that the student held prior to their leave of absence. This includes the opportunity to make up any work the student missed while on leave.

- If taking a leave of absence due to a pregnancy or related condition, the Education Plan in Addendum B will be discussed and signed by the student and a College representative.

Withdrawal from the College

- The student may, in their sole discretion, determine that they must withdraw from the College for an indefinite period or permanently due to their pregnancy or related condition. Existing College withdrawal procedures, and readmission procedures (if applicable) apply.

V. Reasonable Modifications for Students

The College will treat pregnancy or related conditions, or temporary disability resulting from pregnancy or related conditions, consistent with the College's policy on temporary medical conditions.

Reasonable modifications for pregnancy or related conditions will be provided to students based on their individualized needs. Such reasonable modifications will be identified through an interactive process with the student; however, a modification is not reasonable if it fundamentally alters the nature of the College's education program or activity.

Reasonable modifications may include, but are not limited to:

- Breaks during class to attend to any necessary medical or lactation needs
- Access to online education
- Excused absences to attend medical appointments
- Schedule or course changes
- Test rescheduling
- Time extensions for coursework
- Counseling
- Physical space or supply changes
- Elevator access
- Other appropriate policy, practice, or procedure modifications

Students may accept or decline each reasonable modification offered by the Covered Entity.

VI. Lactation Stations & Information

The College provides lactation stations across campus for breastfeeding students and employees. These spaces provide a private, clean area where students and employees are shielded from view and free from intrusion.

VII. Questions or Concerns

A student who has questions about this policy or who is concerned about its implementation should contact the Title IX Coordinator using the contact information listed in Section III of this policy.

*The College reserves the right to modify or revise this Student Handbook at any time without notice, however, the College will make its best effort to notify students of any material changes.
